JOSEPH H. SHEPFIELD

DEDICATION

To Mr. Joseph Sheffield, who has served Lake View so long and so faithfully, and whose patience, understanding, and remarkable ability have won appreciation in the hearts of those to whom he has taught his beloved Latin; to him, one of the finest instructors Lake View can claim as her own, we dedicate our Semi-Annual.

F O R E W O R D

AS old as the fire that warmed the homeless savage of antediluvian years is that ever flickering flame of desire in our minds to seek and discover new truths, and to learn and appreciate the old. With this fact in mind, and remembering the hopes and doubts of our own lives during the past four years, we have, in these pages, attempted to picture as best we could the birth of that flame within us, its growth, and finally the full gleam of brilliance of which this Semi-Annual is itself best witness.

Class Calendar

THE little candle that we so proudly lit four years ago has flamed into a glowing torch. Through all these years we have nursed this tiny spurt of wavering light until it has reached its flaming end.

With heads held high and a wistful smile on our lips we watch the flame leap and then suddenly die to a smouldering glow. We watch the fitful flame and keep it ever burning. . . .

SEPTEMBER

- 5—Seniors return to a school saddened by the departure of Miss Reynolds.
- 18—"Between You 'n' Me", Lake View's first "Line Book", comes out in a blaze of glory.
- 21—Lake View's football men journey to Chicago Heights for first tilt with Bloom High School.
- 27—Senior Class officers elected; Edison Morse chosen president.
- 28—Hopeful candidates for commission prepare speeches.

OCTOBER

- 2—Lake View received honors in the All-American Newspaper contest.
- 5—Lake View publishes eighth anniversary number.
- 13—Our football heroes suffer first and only defeat to Schurz.
- 11—Gene Olson elected president of Senior Council.
- 19—James Brooks to head commissioners.
- 22-23—Cadets usher for the hilarious alumni play, "The Whole Town's Talking."
- 25—Honor studees parade the stage to receive just rewards.
- 26—Committees chosen for coming senior activities.
- 30—Honor Society officers installed; Dorothy Braithwaite is president.

NOVEMBER

- 2—Successful senior dance held.
- 3—Second crushing defeat handed to

Lane by our husky football warriors.

- 10—In a sea of mud the football team hits Waller 20-6, leaving in a triumph of glory.
- 11—Lake View band receives first prize trophy from Mr. Walter A. Strong.
- 13—"Dulcy" chosen for senior drama; cast announced.
- 16—Ken Rouse gives an absorbing football talk in assembly.
- 21—Gruber, violinist, chosen to represent Lake View in state Orchestra contest.
- 23—Bids on sale for fifteenth semi-annual cadet hop.
- 30—Seniors gloat over reception of first order of rings and pins.

DECEMBER

- 11—Senior girls deliberate over graduation gowns.

Class Will

WE, the graduating class of February, 1929, being of sound body and mind, do hereby will and decree the following:

To Mr. Perrine we leave memories.

To the faculty we leave—well, we just leave.

Harriet Baude leaves memories of her boyish bob.

Devera and Bertha Fisher leave, one with pretty clothes, the other for law school.

Our class leaves athletic prowess in its wake too. Witness: Ione Becker, Marguerite Luty, Gretchen Burbach, Margaret Stenson; as for the boys, Herman Goodman, Robert Barnett, Bernard Boslev.

Filmore Botowsky leaves memories as Captain Specialist of Supply Department of R. O. T. C. Corps.

Elizabeth Setchell and Caroline Sexton bequeath such things as dimples and gurgles to the school at large.

Rollo Roberts leaves a column all forlorn.

As for Margaret Marco, on future Commissioners she bequeaths her ability.

Milton Janus and Carl Butts leave debating honors.

Dorothy Gooker and Doraine Greenquist leave together.

Claire Gramling leaves a flair for collecting money to those who haven't that ability.

Yvonne Vermeersch bequeaths her air of chic on posterity.

James Stein and Genevieve Scheinman leave memories of nice red hair.

Robert Fleck leaves his height to others less fortunate.

Gertrude Vitkin wills her jewelry to Theda Pierce.

Marshall Brown bequeaths his nonchalance to posterity.

Armin Bender departs for—Africa?

Elvire Robin leaves a Red and White typewriter not quite intact.

Jack Hogan bequeaths his ability to "storm and rant" to Delmar Karlen.

Eleanor Loeb bequeaths her dressmaking art to domestically-inclined girls.

Elva Kuhlmann and Dorothy San Philipps leave quietly—very quietly.

Richard Willenius leaves sadly.

Sidney Siegan leaves the Lake re View as is.

Helen Mashek wills her dancing slippers.

Fanchon Doty leaves her art.

Arthur Frick departs storming.

Jack Drumm and Donald Gratiot leave the R. O. T. C.—'stoo bad.

John Nikoplos, Milton Nosek, Harry Reses leave memories of three jolly good fellows.

Roger Lane wills his ability as butler to anyone needing it.

Charles Bultinck leaves with a grin.

Elsie Behrens leaves, still undecided as to the length of her hair.

Paul Belz and Theodore De Bower leave by the window.

Paul Timko and Victor Belshaw leave the R. O. T. C., mournfully.

Lorraine Donkel and Eleanor Duerhing leave—still inseparable.

Fvelyn Carlson and Elsie Carlson leave their name to other Carlsons.

Elizabeth Davis leaves history in a hurry.

W. W. Forsythe leaves, hoping to get to some college where they won't call her "sweet".

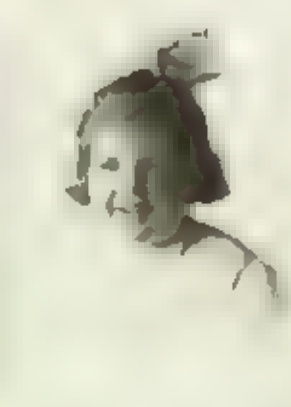

Grace Fisher leaves the memory of a beautiful voice.

Carl Grubert leaves a tank suit.

Josephine Fishleigh bestows her manish haircut to anyone who can get away with it.

Wilford Grabow and Clarence Nauman leave the band broken-hearted.

Grant Dryer bequeathes his gift of heavy history-class arguments to eager disciples.

Dorothy Braithwaite leaves a string of high marks.

Cecelia Dolan leaves accordian music to haunt the assembly hall.

Julia Kohler leaves to conquer more male hearts—perfectly Italian.

Mary Gvosdjak leaves her gum to the study-hall seats.

Mable Hunt and Dorothy Nordlie leave, proudly flaunting long hair.

Lois Hultquist leaves to become a Big Business Woman.

Mildred Krueger wills her mania for Buddy Roger's pictures to another sister-in-love.

Alice Nowieki leaves in great relief.

Lila Lindsay leaves a string of E's and S's.

Fred Jacoby leaves, muttering Latin verbs.

Gene Olsen leaves his flying fingers to jazz up other 406 programs.

Elvi Martilla leaves the Special Dancing Class to bewail the loss of a perfect pianist.

Hydrangea Kob leaves in peace. (Not pieces!)

Hazel Gusweiler leaves her habit of writing soulful impressions.

Helen Orth leaves her brother.

Marjorie Salmon leaves an enchanting laugh.

Robert Simpson leaves his melodious whistle to haunt the class rooms.

Winona Samuelson leaves, yearning to kill all photographers.

Evelyn Voges leaves blonde hair.

Betty Vetter leaves, wondering whether anyone will ever call her Elizabeth.

Martha Symogis leaves her pineapple bob.

Rose Marie Villalobos leaves to the click of castenets.

Dorothy Tragus and Rose Stark leave their studies.

Lyda Zimmerman leaves without succeeding in keeping crumbs off her desk.

Alice Vollert, Lilyan Witzel and Clarice Yale leave the "cute" R. O. T. C. officers.

Grace Zuech leaves, plus a diamond ring on the proper finger.

Paul Wolff bestows his manly voice upon the little sophomores.

Edwin Schild wills his ticket selling ability.

Sol Kramer leaves his football suit.

Gordon Bunt leaves his other name—Joe.

To which we, the undersigned, set our hand and seal this tenth day of December, 1928.

COMMENCEMENT

*T*OO oft called dreamers, now at last we go,
Unfettered and unchecked, to seize the earth,
And call it ours, and try at last to know
How great its treasures are, how true their worth.
Upon our lips Time's wisdom has been placed,
Within our hearts an endless zeal is stored—
*Now who dares say that we are only paste
Before the mighty world's triumphant sword?*

Too oft called dreamers,—yet today we go
With eyes still yearning for the unseen sight,
And hearts receptive still to all the glow
That dreams send out into a winter night.
Still dreaming, we go out triumphantly
To build still greater dreams than now we see!

—ARMIN BENDER.

Junior Flickers

HOWDY, Juniors! Well, we're here, all together, (as we have a tendency of doing now and then—of course, it's very seldom) so let's call this our family reunion. And as they do at all family affairs, let's gossip about our "bright flames," or rather, our "flickers," for they promise to become brighter in their Senior year.

Every family has guardians, so step up, fellows, and let us introduce you to Miss Murphy, guardian of the Junior "A" Class. If you wish your parents to meet this very pleasant and amiable lady, why just "ditch" a few classes and your parents will be called into conference with Miss Murphy. For that is a part of Miss Murphy's work, to speak to parents about their sons or daughters.

Besides this, Miss Murphy helps doubtful Juniors arrange their programs and gives excellent advice as to the proper subjects to choose according to one's plans after graduation. When we asked her about her views of the Junior Class she stated that as the Juniors were not organized into a class, she knew them only as individuals.

And now, "B" Juniors, meet Mrs. Ruddick, your adviser.

"I like to work with Juniors," she said, "because they are past their 'initial experience' stage and have not yet reached the 'superiority complex' stage." (So you see, we are not too stupid nor yet too brilliant). "Of course," she continued, "I do not generally come in contact with the best students, so I don't know anything about 'bright flames.' I am interested in them, though. But as for failures, I am very well acquainted with them and with their parents, too."

And now that you've been introduced, on with the "bright flames."

Everyone knows Gilbert Olander, the flashy quarterback. He has done something for the school as well as for our class, for he was chosen quarterback on the First North Section Team and won a place on the Second All-City team. Gilbert is not a one-sided affair, for he is a good student as well as a football man. Those who know him will agree that he is an "all round good fellow."

While speaking of the Olanders, we mustn't forget Nils, Gilbert's brother. Nils is a very promising trackster.

Phillip Watson is in his second year on the football team. He was chosen end on the Third All-City Team by the Evening Post. He was a track man last year; a pointwinner as a shot putter and runner.

Other promising men are Kenneth Coe, Urban Miller, and Charles Jacobson.

"Marge" Carter, Harriet Nordhem, and Florence Pipenhagen make up a very popular trio. Most of their honors were made in the athletic field, but don't think that physical activities take up all their time. "Marge" and Harriet have a silver honor pin and "Pipy" is a very good student (don't we know!) These girls make up the G. A. A. cheer-leading team—and so, as you may judge, are on the Board.

P. S. Harriet was one of the girls who represented Lake View at the Millhurst Conference, and this, you know, is a high honor.

Virginia Siewertson is outstanding in the G. A. A. She is now on the Board and with the help of Louise Steiner, she makes all those clever G. A. A. posters that adorn our halls. Virginia is also in Life Saving, Games Class, and Leaders. She plays a very good game of basketball and has won her G. A. A. letter.

Other good girl athletes are Ruth Curtis and Gladys Brant, both in Leaders', Games, and Life Saving Classes. Janet Neuman was captain of a captain basket-ball team in games class, and has distinguished herself in swimming meets. She is also on the G. A. A. Board. Then we have Virginia Hess, Dorothy Wolf-lick, Mary Maxwell, Margaret Lindberg, Eleanore Sholz, Dorothy Tamm, Nancy Mitchell, Ellen Duff, M. Josephson, and Olga Brashavitz.

THE RED & WHITE

Now back to the boys. First we have Henry Barg. He is a fleet runner who has made a name for himself in dual meets. Barg is a steady plugger and a willing worker.

In the interclass track meet, Ned Long was a high point man, earning fourteen points. He's on the baseball team, too. William Hardy and Oscar Austin both have their baseball letters. "Spec" Reinmiller is a very prominent shortstop on the team.

Perhaps you did not know it before, but our class can boast of two good singers—Ted Hoffman and Jimmy Toulis. Ted is also in the R. O. T. C. and Jimmy is a regular on the basket-ball team besides being Athletic Equipment Manager.

We also have some band members, namely: Robert Frank, Edward Burkhardt, and Robert Neuman, and our representative on the rifle team is Carl Sachs. Besides, we have a lieutenant in the R. O. T. C. with a Sam Brown belt, puttees, whistle, and all. He is Bud Olin.

Have you ever met a good reporter, student, fellow, and giggler? That's Dorothy Johnson. She is on the Lake re View staff and has a silver honor pin. Another good scout and student is Virginia Nelson.

We have some other literary people besides Dorothy. Rosalyn Feldon, Jule Babcock and Robert Neuman represent our class on the Lake re View. Lucille Keller and Frances Pizzo work in the fiction department of the Red and White. James Setchell and Cameron Hitchcock write editorials (you should read the editorials after this).

Did you know we had the makings of big business men in our class? Well, John Brooks is starting his career as business manager on the Red and White and Ted Hoffman and Howard Black on the Lake re View.

Dixie Quentin, Edythe Erickson, Marie

Handshuh, and Frances Peterson have the honor of dancing in the coming opera.

We have two famous "Dicks"—not detectives either, but basket-ball players. On the lights, Dick Boyer, a regular, and on the heavies, Dick Athen. Boyer is a brilliant player and made fifteen points in a single game this fall. Athen is "coming on" well.

Speaking of detectives, we have had to do a bit of sleuthing ourselves in order to discover the aforementioned "bright flames," so consequently many people whose abilities were not brought to light and appreciated before have now broken into print.

Of course even the best detectives cannot find out everything, so, since we are not of the best, naturally there must be many "bright flames" that we have not discovered.

To those people whom we have mentioned on this page we wish to say "Don't get puffed up, but continue the good work." We feel that by presenting to the school the outstanding members, these "bright flames" may become an inspiration to others.

To those who haven't appeared on the page, we hope that, true-sportsman-like, you will be proud of the accomplishments of your class and try to bring honor to it as well as to yourself by doing as well as those friends of yours whom we have interviewed.

Goodbye, Juniors, until we meet again in June.

* * *

We wish to extend our thanks to those teachers who helped us with this work. Especially to Mrs. Clauson, Mrs. Josephaphare, Miss Suder, and Coach Thompson. By the way, boys, and girls, too, the coach said when we interviewed him: "I have coached for eight years and I have found in every instance that the best athletes were the good students." Most of the "bright flames" we have told you about fulfill this requirement.

Sophomore Revelations

ONCE upon a time, young and childish people roamed about the halls of Lake View, sometimes lost and bewildered, but always very much in evidence through their unruly garrulousness. They were universally "looked down upon", especially by the staid and dignified "Sophs", but many a hard-worked writer on our publication was rescued from the demon "no ideas" by the upper-classman's peculiar facility for writing disparagingly of "Freshies".

Not long ago, however, the "Freshman Evil" was abolished, and lo and behold! The once respectable Sophomores took the unenviable place of the "Freshies" in the public eye. The acid humor of our newspaper and magazine reverted from the latter to the former, and people explained a student's mistakes by the disdainful:

"Oh, he's a Soph!"

We have roamed hither and thither, seeking the answer to the question which invariably arises out of this situation.

"Are the Sophomores as bad as they thought the Freshmen were?"

First I went to the senior class.

"Sophomores?" they answered. "You mean those noisy youngsters who give the teachers grey hair? Oh, they're all right, though they are a bit boisterous. Still, when they are grown up (that is, when they are seniors) they'll be more sophisticated."

Next I visited two experienced teachers, Miss S. and Miss R.

The latter was of the opinion that Sophomores were about the same as the Freshmen were. She believed that their greatest fault lay in an insistent forgetfulness where homework was concerned.

"But," she added, "that is the greatest fault of every class!" A teacher would think so!

Miss S. compared Sophomores to recruits in an army; they lack discipline. She also remarked about their distressing propensity for being so absent-minded as to continue eating in study-hall. But Miss S. had good words for the class, also.

"The Sophomores," she averred, "have more enthusiasm than the other classes, and can be stirred to greater accomplishment." That statement is likely to breed trouble for her with two-thirds of Lake View.

After this, we interviewed the "sophs", themselves. We asked them questions, chiefly about their first impressions of our school.

Next we saw Marie Haas. They call her "Sunshine", and she certainly beamed with information. Some of the rays we captured:

It was very easy for her to locate the four different floors of Lake View, but finding the rooms was difficult. The routine seemed queer to her, because it involved so much school work. She liked the study of Greek best.

"But," we remonstrated, in regard to the last statement, "Greek is not included in Lake View's curriculum!"

"That," she explained, "is why I like it best."

An interview with Elizabeth Schreber followed.

"What did you see first when you came to Lake View?" we interrogated.

"The carving over the Ashland entrance," was her reply. If the first thing she saw was that carving which is above the doors, her head must have been held very high. This proves beyond a doubt that Sophomores are "stuck-up".

"What was your first impression of Lake View?" we persisted.

"Crowds," she replied, "crowds of students. After bumping around for several periods, I longed for the wide open spaces of Greeley."

Thus we concluded our investigation, the success of which you are now to judge.

Sophomore Anticipations

FROM among the Sophomore class, we have chosen a few students who represent their classmates in all the different branches of activity. It is our purpose to show Lake View what ambitious and wide-a-woke young people they are and how they contribute to the success of the school.

Sophomore Representatives

Lucille Charles, one of the group we have chosen to represent the sophomores this semester, is the pretty little blonde who excels in all things athletic. She is an ardent G. A. A. member, of course, but that is not all; she is a member of the Special Dancing Class, and is one of the four girls who gave the Scare Crow Dance at an assembly this semester. Her swimming has not yet broken any records, but she enjoys it so that it behooves others to look to their laurels.

The boys can truly feel that they have done their part for Lake View athletics as well as the girls. Two of the Sophomores played on the football team this fall, both in the position of half-back. One of these boys, "Studie" Arjoropolis, hails from Galesburg, Illinois, and already is an enthusiastic booster for next year's team; he urges that all Sophomore boys do their bit in supporting the team. The other young gentleman, Charles David, gives promise of good football material for next year.

Next on our list of representatives are two singers, a girl and a boy who are both well known. Rose Bandanza is the possessor of the charming voice which led the Sophomore Glee Club sopranos last semester. She is a member of the Spanish club now, and she sang at the Spanish Settlement Party. She is the proud possessor of an honor pin, too! Richard Chann is the boy who led the altos in the same Glee Club last semester; he's still in the Glee Club and has taken various other activities as well, among which are membership on track, swimming, and fencing teams. And in addition to all this, he played Intra-mural basket-ball. Busy boy, this Mr. Chann.

Our Sophomores have excelled in more than one musical branch of the fine arts; Albert Hirsch is an expert pianist, as his medals prove. Besides accompanying the Glee Club, Albert has found time to study enough to win and keep an honor pin. Incidentally, Albert hopes to end this semester with a row of four wriggle S's.

From one of the fine arts to another; Glenn Grohe is next on the program. It is hardly necessary to introduce this outstanding 2A. His work has decorated the Red and White all of this semester. His position as an Associate Art Editor on the staff is an enviable one, but the tasks fall lightly off his shoulders as he draws. (That sounds queer, but it is what is meant.) Glenn has helped swell the membership of the Honor Society for four semesters, and to all appearances he will continue to do so for four more.

The Sophomore class has its own share of scholastic honors that can hardly be beaten by any of the upper classmen. Marion Donner has won the Soph's laurels in this field by her achievement of receiving four S's all at one time last semester and semesters preceding as well. She is a bronze pin member of the Honor Society and will, of course, be more than that someday by the way she's going now. Marion is also Secretary-Treasurer of the German Club and belongs to the G. A. A., while last semester she was a member of the Sophomore Glee Club. Miriam Ginsburg and Anna Welch also received the same high marks during these semesters and we hope this record of getting E's and S's won't be lowered.

THE RED & WHITE

Ravenswood

BELIEVE it or not, the "freshies" are still thriving without their natural advisors, those kindly, elderly, sophisticated personages, the sophomores, juniors and seniors. Ravenswood is composed of innumerable "freshies" from whose ranks must come future athletic, scholastic, musical, literary and dramatic stars. And as any institution with such expectations must needs be worthy of attention, let us now turn our eyes thereon.

Perhaps the most important activity of these freshmen is their commission, composed of seven members, one from each room. Their various cognomens are: Robert Hachl, Robert Lovell, Frederic Simon, Helga Bender, Gertrude Hadlock, Sarah de Rocher and Jack Baritetto; and at present their energies are concentrated on plans for a big party. However, their activities are not entirely social, for they have sponsored and carried out several successful campaigns against untidiness, tardiness and low scholarship average. With all this campaigning they ought to make good politicians, don't you think?

The Girl Reserves are ably represented by a large group of very nice young ladies. The officers are Gertrude Hadlock, Helga Bender, Barbara Schmidt and Frances McCarthy. The chapter functions much in the same way as that at Lake View. The girls are divided into committees, each committee taking charge of the program for one meeting. The girls are very much interested in their work and most of them plan to continue it when they arrive at the "main building".

The boys have interested themselves in a band conducted by our own bandmaster, Mr. Walz. "We" heard them play and "we" predict victories innumerable in all future band competitions. Besides their band, the boys have become very enthusiastic over athletics and there is much promising material among them. Their third activity is their R. O. T. C. With all these outside activities the boys are kept busy, but they seem to enjoy their busy-ness very much.

The boys and girls coöperate in the assemblies, presenting short skits and solo numbers. The talent at the Thanksgiving program which "we" saw, will furnish much excellent material for our assemblies next year.

The Girl Reserves presented a short sketch. The girls, dressed in the quaint garb of foreign countries, each told of her way of giving thanks. There was the Hebrew girl, the Grecian girl, the Roman girl, the Puritan girl, and the Indian girl.

Paul Wilson, a very talented young musician, played several selections on his Hawaiian guitar, and the famed boys' band which had then been in existence only three or four weeks, entertained us for a short time. A fourth number on the program was a short humorous reading by one of the girls.

Miss Eisberg is the head-teacher at Ravenswood, and a very efficient one, too. When "we" desired to know of the prominent people at Ravenswood, she suggested a popularity contest, and "we" take this opportunity to thank her very much for her helpful coöperation.

Then, knowing the names of these prominent people, "we" proceeded to ask them about their expectations as to student life at Lake View. The results you will find on the following page. "We" never thought our reputation was as bad as some of the "expectations" seem to indicate. Did you?

Expectations

By Ravenswood Representatives

"I EXPECT to find it much more interesting over at the main building than it is here. I do not think that the upper classmen will treat us any differently than if we were in their classes, provided we act as we should."

—ROBERT HAEHL.

"What I expect when I arrive at the main building:—to be told when looking for a room to take the freshman elevator, to be jeered at by the upper classmen, and to be asked to do many things which a serious-minded senior would not think of lowering himself to do."

—BARBARA SCHMIDT.

"P. S. I am taking advantage of the honor that has been bestowed upon me, for I know that there will be no hope for a little soph's ever being interviewed."

"I expect to have quite a nice time with the exception of being teased and stared at. I will try to find time for most every thing interesting going on. I am sure I'll enjoy the teachers there too, if they aren't too hard on us poor freshmen."

—BRYL RENTRO.

"When I enter the main building I intend to join the golf club and the fencing club. I am a member of the Ravenswood Band and expect to continue that activity. I am acquainted with only one room—314. I have learned to know it through my failing—tardiness."

—ROBERT LAVELL.

"I expect to get lost, and run into big seniors who'll tease me dreadfully."

—SARAH DE ROCHER.

"I expect to see more teachers, more students and rooms, and a greater variety of activities, better equipment for science and other subjects. I hope to make more acquaintances and friends. On my arrival at the main building I suppose I'll be the victim of many jokes."

—BURTON CARPENTIER.

"On arriving at the main building I expect to be tormented by the "jazzy juniors" and snubbed by the "sophisticated seniors". I expect to be treated as a freshman over again but I hope to find a friend who will act as an adviser. I want to feel that I am a part of Lake View."

—GERTRUDE HADLOCK.

"When I get to the main building I expect the Juniors and Seniors to tell me where the elevators are and I suppose I'll jam the combination of my lock."

—FREDERICK SIMON.

"'Pon my entrance into the noble main building I expect, first of all, to keep up with basket-ball, my favorite sport."

"The Slide Rule Club has been to my liking, and I want to join this particular club if it is still in existence."

—HARDY WHITING.

"On arriving at the main building I first of all expect to be "razzed" and fooled many times, although I hope to find friends who will have pity on a poor little "Soph" like me."

—HILGA BENDER.

"When I pass to the main building I expect to join the Glee Club and maybe the staff of the Lake re View or the Red and White. I hope also to make some good marks. Perhaps the Radio Club will place me on its membership roll."

—FRANK COTTERMAN.

"When I arrive at the main building I expect to join the G. A. A., take part in the swimming meets, and break all unknown records. (I haven't learned to swim as yet.) I also expect to join the Tennis Club. Aren't these enough expectations?"

—HELEN KOKONAS.

Greeley Branch

LAST semester at Greeley was a period of intense activity in all directions. Under the impetus of efficient new officers and enthusiastic members, the various clubs and other organizations rallied and produced a very spirited season. Greeley has contributed several men to teams at Lake View; and the gym teams at Greeley have had a very "peppy" membership and a series of hard-contested games between classes.

Greeley's branch of the G. A. A. had the surprisingly large membership of 226 girls. The organization has been more than just moderately active—there have been plans afoot for something or other during the whole semester. The new officers had no sooner caught their breaths after the excitement of elections than a Hallowe'en party was held. In charge of the party was Fannie May Argeson, the president of the G. A. A.

Just to look at Fannie is to understand why the party was such a success, she is such a capable looking person. Her ability was recognized by the girls who elected her the president of the G. A. A., for she was vice-president of the Girl Reserves in 1928, she has been captain of volley-ball and captain basket-ball teams, and she is the possessor of a gold efficiency pin.

Babette Schillo, vice-president, is only a 1B and will automatically become president of the G. A. A. next semester. She is athletically inclined, having captained a volley-ball team. Many of her friends assert that she looks strikingly like Fannie May, as both have dark hair and eyes and wind-blown bobs.

Dorothy Zeigler and Rosalie Boscamp, secretary and treasurer respectively, have both proved their athletic prowess. Both have been G. A. A. delegates and are captains of volley-ball teams. Dorothy also has a bronze honor pin to prove that her interests are not all centered on athletics.

Besides the Hallowe'en party, the G. A. A. has had three hikes, which, according to reports, were all huge successes. A different type of entertainment was provided when the members staged a vaudeville show.

The members of the Boys' Glee Club may well be called pioneers in their field, for this organization is the very first of its kind at the Greeley Branch. The enthusiastic members of the club, who number twenty-two in all, were under the capable tutorship of Mrs. Grisard. The boys met two or three times each week during their lunch periods, at which times they did their rehearsing. During the semester the club sang at one of the P. T. A. meetings at Lake View and excited favorable comment. Mrs. Grisard has, on several occasions, handed the baton to Elmer Harris who has made a fine student conductor.

Besides the above mentioned accomplishment, Elmer has various other talents. He was captain of one of the basket-ball teams in the gym classes, and came over to the main building where he had a place on the junior swimming team. Then, he was the assistant sales manager of the Lake re View at Greeley. Fannie May Argeson and he shared the position of football agent during the last semester.

The branch business manager of the Lake re View, Alexander Schreiber, was also a very busy person. Besides finding time to attend to his duties as business manager, he was captain of a basketball team, and a member of the junior swimming team and Leaders' Class at Lake View.

The boys at the Greeley Branch were very enthusiastic about athletics at the main building, as you may have gathered from the above. Greeley had no regular teams but two of the boys, William

THE RED & WHITE

Thompson and Thomas Wattly, were members of the Lake View football squad and turned out for every practice during the football season.

Do you know why the number of sales of the Red and White has been so large at Greeley? This success was due to a certain blonde young man who is known as Sterling Bassett. Besides being branch manager of the magazine, Sterling has other accomplishments to his credit. Foremost of these is a shiny bronze honor pin. He, like the other boys, played basketball on one of the teams at the branch. When Sterling comes to the main building in February, just watch the sales of the Red and White increase!

The room agents at Greeley have also worked faithfully to bring up sales. Daniel Cohn of Room 4 sold the greatest number of magazines during the semester. His record was fifty-three for one issue. Other agents who brought in good results were Marshall Silverman, Clara Corthier, Abe Katz, Louise Dooley, and Katherine Mendt.

One of the most active organizations at Greeley was the Girl Scouts. How could it have been otherwise with such an efficient and "peppy" group of officers? Jeanette Hazen, in the capacity of chairman, saw to it that the twenty members were always busy, and Charlotte Childs, secretary, and Eleanor Schlesinger, treasurer, aided her. The scribe, Elsie Nagel, and the quartermistress, Helen Lofgren, were very efficient in their offices.

If you are somewhat skeptical as to the activeness of the Girl Scouts, just look over the following list of activities during the past semester: Hallowe'en party, Columbus Day hike, mock trial, and Salvation Army tag day. One more thing must be mentioned. When you go to Greeley, do not fail to give particular attention to the beautiful pongee curtains which adorn the windows and door of the office. They are just one of the many specimens of the Scouts' handiwork.

Of course you have read the Greeley column of the Lake re View. As there are no special reporters assigned to the branch, the Lake re View has always depended on voluntary contributions to fill up this column, and has met with splendid cooperation. Among those who have supplied interesting and very acceptable material are Louise Dooley, Alberta Joyner, Ellen Berg, Fannie Corlogeorgian, and Minerva Johnston. All of these girls have had over three hundred words published this semester.

The girls, not to be outdone by the boys, had their own glee club, known as the Choral Club. This club, also under the supervision and direction of Mrs. Grisard, met every day. The officers, Florence Schwartz, president, Marie Anderson, secretary, and Anna Kosteric, treasurer, have served well throughout the semester, and are to be congratulated on their ability to preside. The club has studied the various operas quite thoroughly, and "Choralis" has been given close attention. This practice at Greeley gives the students an excellent foundation for the work they will do at the Lake View Glee Club, which we hope they will join.

Perhaps one reason why the Greeley students were so successful in all the projects they undertook is due to the splendid cooperation found in the student body. Teachers and students work together so as to bring about a most interesting and enjoyable year. At Greeley it is just another case of "one for all and all for one." It is the place to go to take lessons in school spirit and loyalty to one's alma mater. Willingness and helpfulness are two other evident qualities there. This cooperation between teacher and student was shown best when the Red and White asked for material about Greeley. Without the aid which we received from both the faculty and student body we could have accomplished little.

Senior Girls' Service Council

HERE we introduce the "red-jackets" of Lake View—nineteen Senior girls who constitute the Senior Girls' Service Council. The ultimate purpose of the Council is to create a feeling of friendliness between the sophomores and the upper-classmen.

These nineteen girls chosen by Miss Suder gave parties for the various groups of sophomore girls at the beginning of the semester. These parties were held in the annex of the girls' gymnasium and each week two girls acted as hostesses. After lunch was eaten the girls played games and became acquainted with each other. All the parties during the last semester were very successful. The Council girls also acted as hostesses in the Dean's room, and every Friday afternoon tea was served to the teachers.

After they had finished entertaining the sophomores, the girls of the Council were the guests at a luncheon given by Miss Suder for them. Near the end of the semester the Senior Girls' Service Council presented a short play at an assembly attended by the sophomores and the girls from Greeley and Ravenswood.

At one of the last Council meetings of the semester, the 4B girls gave a surprise luncheon in honor of the graduating Councillors.

Red and White Staff

*A*CTIVITY on the Red and White is divided into four departments: literary, art, business, and advertising. No academic credit is given to students who work in these departments; all who contribute do so voluntarily in an effort to develop their literary, artistic, or executive talents to a greater degree than the ordinary classroom allows. At the same time the staff member of each department comes into contact with students whose interests are similar to his own, and thus he receives the benefit of others' opinions and personalities. Outside of his own department, however, each staff member at some time or other learns how to sacrifice self-interests for the good of the magazine as a whole. Such lessons as these far outlast the year or two he is able to devote to the magazine.

The requirements for every department differ from one another, but there are two qualities which the Red and White exacts of every staff member: sincerity, and a willingness to cooperate. Once having acquired these traits an aspirant to staff membership may set out to fulfill the technical requirements.

The literary staff, for admission, demands fifteen-hundred words of accepted prose, or fifty lines of accepted poetry, and also a period of work a day at the literary office. The art staff, besides a period a day in the art office, requires an accepted full-page illustration or accepted drawings to make up an entire page. The business and advertising staffs demand, first of all, a period a day of work in the office, and then other special requirements which may be arranged with Mr. Bowen and Miss Hastings, respectively.

During the last semester the Red and White received a "distinguished rating" certificate from the University of Illinois in its state publication contest. The same issues of the magazine will be submitted to the Columbia Press Association, which conducts a nation-wide contest every year. The Red and White was the winner in Class A for the last two years and if it is at all possible it will win again.

The greatest requirement for a prize-winning magazine in a contest consists of the success it achieves in representing all interests, classes, and activities in the school. The Red and White has always been rated highly in this feature, and it will continue to do so if Lake View students will continue to consider it a part of themselves and contribute their attempts at self-expression to each issue. Several semesters ago there appeared an issue called the "contributors' " issue. This consisted entirely of contributions from students not on the staffs. The success of this experiment was gratifying and it would indeed be a remarkable occasion if a second number of this kind could be produced. Contributions of any kind are always welcomed and if not accepted, they are constructively criticized.

TO CREATE a spirit of friendship between the officers of the corps, and to plan the work and activity of the R. O. T. C., is the purpose of the Lake View Officers' Club.

Every other Thursday night the club meets at the home of some officer. After all business has been disposed of, refreshments are sometimes served. Then the fun begins.

The qualification for membership in the club is an active officership in the Lake View R. O. T. C. At the beginning of each semester, an initiation is held and the new officers are compelled to go through a trying ordeal. The membership is now forty-one officers.

An important part of the semester's business is the sponsoring of the Cadet Hop. The latest gathering was the 15th Semi-Annual, held in the Banquet Room of the Edgewater Beach Hotel on December 26. All those who attended pronounced it a distinct social success, and the management committee claims that the same is true financially.

PREVIOUS to this semester the Chess and Checker Clubs were united into one, but due to the large number of enthusiasts it became necessary to divide the club.

The enrollment numbers around thirty-five, but one glance at the club picture shows that many were camera-shy.

The team, composed of O. Rosenthal, B. Urban, B. Collins, G. Potter, F. Botowsky, and L. Hopkins, have met and conquered the teams of Lane, Senn, and Austin; the scores were 10-0, 10-0, and 7-3, respectively. There were three games played with Roosevelt, Crane, and New Trier. The latter was a challenge game and checkers were also to be played.

Doctor Pepoon, the jovial sponsor, can be seen playing games with the boys, almost every day after school in Room 111. Rosenthal is the best chess player in the organization with Mathews, Urban, and Potter tying for second honors.

DURING the four semesters of its existence the stamp club has prospered under the capable sponsorship of Miss Peter. Many who are interested in the science of stamp collecting make up the list of members. At the beginning of the year an exhibition, made up of many interesting stamps, was held for the purpose of increasing membership. Many new and enthusiastic collectors joined. Some of the members already have accumulated large collections although they specialize in bringing together only stamps from certain countries.

At the meetings articles of interest were read and stamps were traded. To add to the interest various games concerning stamp-issuing countries were played. Stamps were the prizes given the victors in these contests.

The club pin has been slightly changed. A perforated silver oblong will be used as a mounting for the old globe insignia.

Stamp collecting is an interesting game; one can play it alone; but it is more fascinating when such a group as this takes part in it.

IN 1925, the Architectural Club was organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Ashton. The club was started so that important subjects not discussed in drawing classes might be studied. Various well known architects visited the club and made interesting speeches on the advancement of architecture. Mr. Ashton secured various sets of slides that were shown to the club. These slides were based upon the development of building construction and of modern architecture.

The club sponsored trips to many of the great industrial plants which manufacture construction materials. During the past year the boys visited the Northwestern Terra Cotta Mills, the Universal Portland Cement Mills, and the Builders' Building.

As the custom every semester, the club had a Toonerville Hike which was much anticipated and greatly enjoyed. The final meeting or "party" was especially interesting because of the additional attractions of refreshments and entertainment.

ORGANIZED five semesters ago by Miss Schumacher, the Readers' Club has promoted interest in literature and good fiction, and has been an incentive for using the school library. Many interesting discussions have been held that have led to a better understanding of the classics and of modern fiction. This year there were twenty-five members, and all of them were girls.

This semester's work has been on Milne, Barrie, Shaw and other modern playwrights and some of their books, such as "Mr. Pim Passes By" and "Not That It Matters". Each meeting a different subject has been taken for discussion after which different members report on new books that have been read. Some of the most interesting books reported on were "Quality Street" and "A Kiss for Cinderella" by Barrie. "Wintersmoon" by Walpole was another entertaining book.

This group, under the direction of the librarian, offers interesting work and reading to those students interested in studying good things in all literature.

“*B*ETTER health” is the slogan of this group consisting of forty-two girls. The club is affiliated with the National Home Economics Association of the high school section. Girls of all school departments may join.

Several trips have been taken including a trip to Hull house, Northwestern Settlement, Chicago Theater, and Stevens Hotel. The programs are both educational and social.

Two social affairs have been held this semester. A Halloween party and a Christmas party were given. At one of the most interesting meetings five senior boys gave their opinions of “The Ideal Girl”. Most of them preferred the athletic, “peppy” type. This bears out the slogan, for in order to have pep and enjoy sports one must have “Good health”.

A Christmas settlement party was also given by the club. In this way a little cheer was given people less fortunate.

Special Latin Club

SPONSORED by Miss Souther, the Special Latin Class includes those pupils who have acquired an E or S in Latin. Both Cicero and Vergil students are active members of this class which is divided into two parts—the former meeting on Wednesday during ninth period in room 302, and the latter on Tuesday at the same place and time.

The organization does not follow any definite rules, but conducts the meetings very informally. The members read the Latin of ancient writers. The Cicero class read, "The Story of Jason", and "The Life of Hannibal"; whereas, stories from Ovid and selections from Vergil were read and translated at sight by the senior group.

The class consists of about thirty students all of whom come to the club for various reasons. A few assemble to gain ability in sight translation, while the majority come merely for pleasure. There is a probability that this class is a great opportunity for those who desire to try out for scholarships. There have been years when Lake View has had pupils earn these highly coveted scholarships and therefore the Special Latin Class really adds another laurel to Lake View's already achieved ones.

DURING the past year, as in other years, it has been the purpose of the Boys' Debating Club to promote concise, quick, logical thinking; to foster facility of oral expression; to encourage thorough investigation of topics which are of current and vital interest; and to acquaint its members with the rudiments of parliamentary order and procedure.

Ordinarily, the club is conducted in the following manner: At the beginning of each semester all members are paired in teams. As often as possible debates are held on some subject which meets with the approval of two opposing teams and of the club. Each debater is limited to a main speech of five minutes' length and to a rebuttal of three minutes.

Aside from the usual work of the club, a team of six members was chosen to engage in a dual inter-school debate with Roosevelt High School. This event took place on December 19.

There has long been needed at Lake View a place where students might whet and train their powers of argument and logic. And this is what the Boys' Debating Club offers.

French Club

THIS semester the French Club was reorganized with a very select membership. The club membership was not open to every French student, but only to those taking fourth year French. This was the first time that there had been such a restriction on the French students, but it was found to be necessary because only French was spoken at the meetings and the programs were carried on in French. The meetings were held every other week under the sponsorship of Miss Buckley.

The members of the club were divided up into groups of six, with a member of the program committee acting as chairman of each group. Programs of a great variety were presented at the meetings under a different committee at each meeting. This novel plan gave every member a chance to participate in the programs. Among the programs presented was a dramatizing of "The Necklace" by Guy de Maupassant, and also several French games and American games conducted in French.

Dues were collected at each meeting for the purpose of ending the semester with a large party.

DURING the past semester much has been accomplished by the club to create an interest in the language. This leads to many things, especially acquaintance with, and facility in speaking it. At all times only German was spoken.

Many and varied were the programs of the meetings which took place every other Thursday in Room 315 during ninth period. Following the usual custom, business was transacted first; after this a short play was presented and then the members joined in singing old German folk songs. Several talented members sang solos and offered piano selections. At Christmas a very enjoyable party was given and carols were sung. More than forty German students attended.

In connection with the German classes, the club has attended German operettas given by the American Admirers of German Art at the Vic Theater. Judging from its many activities, the club has had a very successful year.

INSPIRED by the admirable harmonica-playing ability of Mr. McLain, a group of girls organized a harmonica club under the supervision of Miss Suder. Last semester she was succeeded by Miss Glomski. The Harmonica Club considered itself fortunate in having such an adept accompanist.

Although some of the girls had profited by the visits of Mr. McLain during the previous semester, many were beginners when they entered the club. They have progressed rapidly, and can now play the harmonica comparatively well. The girls' co-operation was necessary to achieve the remarkable results which they have attained.

The members were divided into groups of four, and each group was given a four part song to learn. It was not a simple task to put these parts together perfectly, and much practise was necessary.

Unison songs were also learned. Some of them were: "Old Folks at Home," "Black Joe," "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," "America," "Merry Widow Waltz," and "Donna e mobile."

MUSIC inspires one with a love for the beautiful and helps him to live a happy life. It is a means of wholesome entertainment for his leisure hours. Because of this inspiration the Sophomore Glee Club has been a huge success under the most capable direction of Miss Glomski. The club members, in number one hundred and twenty, have been very energetic in their preparation for the inter-high school contest; they also worked diligently on an assembly program. Such numbers as "Softly, O Midnight Hours" by Treharne, "When The Leaves Are Turning Gold" by Donizetti, "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell and "Ave Maria" by Mendelssohn have been studied. Every day at sixth period one could hear the strains of these selections echoing down the corridors from 214. We wish much success to this organization and may it continue in the interest of good music at Lake View.

SEVERAL years ago a few enterprising girl students of Lake View organized, under the direction and general supervision of the Chicago Y. W. C. A., a Girl Reserve Club.

Out of this nucleus grew the present branch, which is one of the larger school clubs. It has had an enrollment of about seventy-five.

To foster a spirit of friendship and to promote new and lasting friendships among its members is one of the main features of the club's purpose. An inspiring code and the aim, "To find and give the best," are symbolic of the club.

Throughout the year, many social meetings were held, marking practically all the special holidays during the school year. Settlement work was done by the girls in the Social Service group; they gave parties at Thanksgiving and Christmas last semester for the children in the poorer districts.

Last year the Girl Reserves commenced the selling of candy at the basket-ball games. The business was managed by the Budget committee.

IN NOVEMBER, the new Lake View Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Josaphare, was formed. The Spanish classes began to bring in various odds and ends collected from many sources. In a very short time, room 108 became a typical Spanish classroom with its brilliant sateen curtains and its display of lariats, pelotas, cestas, and mate cups. A professor of languages at the University of Chicago, declared that the collection was the best he had seen in a high school and that it was in line with the foreign language methods at his university.

At the first meeting the officers were elected and the club was fortunate in securing a Spanish girl for its president. Then events followed with amazing alacrity — dramas, choral singing and Spanish programs. Especially enjoyable was the visit of Mr. Lupian, the Mexican consul, who was prevailed upon to give a talk on Mexico City.

By diligent effort the members hope to make the club a society of which the whole school may be proud.

Orchestra

OUR orchestra is so well known that there is very little left to tell about it. Under the leadership of Mrs. Smith, this organization has been rehearsing twice a day in Room 315. Our foremost musician, Peter Gruber, was sent down to Urbana to play in the All-State Orchestra during the Conference down there. Peter is a very serious violinist and has worked his way up from just playing in the violin section to the Student Directorship which is the highest honor Mrs. Smith awards in the orchestra.

At the program which the orchestra gave at one of the assemblies this semester they played: "Prometheus" by Ludwig van Beethoven; "La Folia" by P. Lacombe; "Song of Love" by Franz Schubert; and the very beautiful "Blue Danube Waltz" by Johann Straus. To this repertoire they added "My Maryland" by Sigmund Romberg; and "Melodie" from Paderewski's Opus 16 No. 2; when they played at the Lake View Alumni Association's presentation of "The Whole Town's Talking".

TROOP Nineteen has been thriving successfully under the able captaincy of Mrs. Thompson. This year the troop is keeping its membership down to the regulation size of thirty-two members. The new officers and lieutenants were chosen while Miss Romberg was still with the troop, and the good judgment of the choice has been shown by the work accomplished by these girls. The troop work has been started with groups working for First Class, Second Class, Tenderfoot and Merit badges. Many of the girls are graduating this year, and leave behind them some very enthusiastic scouts. It is only natural for the troop to bemoan the loss of the graduates, and those who remain take this opportunity to wish those who are leaving dear old Troop Nineteen all happiness, good luck and future scout-able times—we also hope that the "grads" will not forget the Troop they leave behind them and so favor us with an occasional visit.

WITH their able sponsor, Miss Williams, the Greeley G. A. A. has had a very busy and worth while year. The membership drive, held at the beginning of the semester, added many new members to the organization. After the drive each gym class chose two delegates to represent it at the meetings. Next came the election of officers.

When this part of the work was completed, the rest of the time was devoted to various activities which were planned by the delegates. Included in the good times were several hikes and parties, which brought out many loyal G. A. A. members. The hikes were planned not only for enjoyment, but also to help earn points for an L. V., the cherished prize of every G. A. A. member.

It must be said that the Greeley G. A. A. did its part in making athletic activities more interesting. And since this was its aim, those who were responsible for its success, can end their work with a light and happy heart.

Greeley Girls' Choral Club

President	FLORENCE SCHWARTZ
Secretary	MARIE ANDERSON
Treasurer	ANNE KOSTEREC
Sponsor	MRS. GRISARD

UNDER the excellent supervision of Mrs. Grisard, a choral club for girls was organized during the semester at the Greeley Branch of Lake View. The popularity of the group was shown by its large membership of seventy one girls. No dues were collected but each member had to pay for her own music.

The girls were divided into three groups, first soprano, second soprano, and alto. "Blow Soft Winds" by Vincent, "Nursery Rhymes" by Pearl Curran, "Down in the Valley," an American folk song, "The Dumb Wife," an English folk song, and several Christmas carols were among the selections the girls learned. Mabel Freedberg, the pianist, greatly aided the club by her proficient musical renderings of these numbers.

All semester the club worked very enthusiastically. That its labors were fruitful was indicated by its steady progress. The organization praised Mr. Fowler, Mrs. Grisard, and the rest of the faculty most generously for their hearty cooperation.

ONE of the most active organizations at Ravenswood is the Girl Reserves. Meetings are held each Tuesday during division period, being sponsored by Miss Eiberg.

This organization is composed of various interest groups each of which has its own chairman.

The Financial Group of which Frances McCarthy is chairman, takes charge of all financial affairs.

The Spiritual group plays a great part in forming the ceremonial. Helen Kokonas conducts this group.

Very interesting entertainments are furnished by Margaret Dippold and her Dramatic Group.

The Sport Group provides hikes and picnics under the supervision of Lillian Cook.

Parties and social affairs are planned by the Social Group and its chairman, Rita Riorden.

The Service Group tries to render aid to needy families and children whenever possible. Barbara Schmidt presides over this group.

The posters and publicity work is done by Helen Ball and her helpers, comprising the Publicity Group.

Music is provided by the Music Group of which Helga Bender is chairman.

Each week after business is transacted, a certain interest group renders a program pertaining to the Ravenswood theme, "World Fellowship".

*T*HIS IS THE AGE of "go"—fast running motors fill the streets—new classes in aviation are being formed, even in our high schools. Aeroplanes carry our mail and our express Transcontinental routes for passengers are now common. Things move fast—youth flies high. May the young people who are now leaving us, fly to great heights in achievement in the various lines of work they will choose.

The ANNUAL, especially the advertising management, wishes that success may be theirs.

May the New Year—1929—be happy and prosperous and all the years to come bring equal prosperity.

Who pays the Fiddler?

We often wonder when we read of Mrs. Ritz or Mrs. Astorbilt going to Palm Beach and staying at the Royal Ponciana or George Gotrock's father giving him a new sport roadster or Miss Emily Rich's new fur coat—where the money comes from?

But you may be sure, someone has saved money somewhere, sometime, or somehow.

They established a bank account and started systematic savings.

Now if you want things and want something very much, start saving right now.

The IRVING STATE & SAVINGS BANK will help you.

Call on them at once and let them advise you.

GOOD POSITIONS GUARANTEED

Better shorthand and teaching methods have placed over 90 per cent of our graduates in good paying positions in less than 90 days from date of enrollment.

Let us send you testimonials from business men certifying that by our new methods you can be trained for the best stenographic positions at but one-half the usual cost in time and money—many have been qualified in sixty days, thus saving from $200 to $300 in working time and tuition. No thinking person can see the new "ATSIGHT" method of making shorthand easy or get the facts about the Henderson Schools and be satisfied with any other. Be sure to visit our school and see this new method any Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock or Saturday afternoon at 2.00.

A TRIBUTE TO LAKE VIEW LOYALTY

ANOTHER MILESTONE in the lives of loyal men and women of Lake View—The Red and White of the mid-year class of 1928. It stands well up among great Lake View accomplishments—a fitting tribute to the school—and to the ingenuity, loyalty and industry of those whose labors helped to build it.

Staff members will experience a great deal of satisfaction and pride in such successful culmination of their work. The Manz Corporation shares in this pride, as it has been our privilege to make the engravings for The Red and White.

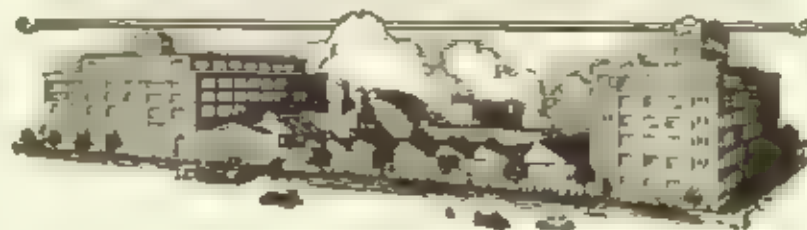

For sixty-two years Manz has developed—until today it is the largest complete printing establishment of its kind in the country. Here everything required for the complete printed job—from Idea to Finished Product—is produced under one roof.

For years we have been cooperating with student staffs and faculty advisors in the preparation of year books. They have found it profits them to take advantage of Manz creative service in the initial stages of the work.

Class Prophecy

WITH eager eyes we gazed into the tiny flame before us. As we watched the blurred figures in the heart of the fire they slowly took shape and in long array we saw our old classmates again, but now grown older and far wiser.

First came a little man running, whom we knew as Richard Swander; next, the cause of his flight, came Eva Taylor, rolling pin in hand. Then, a little band of Salvation Army workers singing sweet hymns; and these we knew to be Jean Schroeder, Flossie Charlton, Lester Weber and Harry Perkins. In a flurry of snow a snow-sled rushed through and in it we caught a glimpse of the newly restored Russian Czar, Axel Anderson, and the darling of the Russian court, the great actress, Elizabeth Lazareff.

In striking contrast came the next scene, a beach in sunny Hawaii. On the shore strolled a goodly missionary, Robert Leicester. The flame disclosed another part of the isle, the port, and there two traders, Sol Berman and Charles Anderson, stood watching a shipment of wares as it was taken from the ship. Standing at the helm was a stern-faced woman-captain, Virginia Mae Miller, and at her side, the famous woman pilot, La Vergne Ableson.

The busy scene faded and in its place was America's famous Broadway. Lining the streets were signs advertising their wares. "Bernadine Week's Travel Bureau," "Vera Benson Can Fix Your Feet", "Ruth Herst, Architect", "How to Be Successful? See Elizabeth Eby". All these brought familiar names to mind. In one of the great cars on the avenue we recognized the chauffeur, Bob Marr. Behind him rode Vivian Means and Rosemary Moran, enroute to the opera.

And then the tiny flame showed us the stage of the great auditorium and on it we saw Byron Morrow and Dorothy Peck thrilling a vast audience in an opera by Virginia Childs, conducted by Minnie Cohen. In the Diamond Horseshoe we caught sight of Edison Morse and Jack Eisold, both resplendent in officer uniforms, and beside them Marie Alshouse and Alice Bloomquist. Tidy girl attendants stood at the head of each aisle, and two of them we recognized as Florence Alsfasser and Irene Boeson. And as our gaze shifted to the gallery we saw in the topmost row Ruth Anderson and Lucille Collinge.

Out on the street again we saw Bob Moench selling papers, and in a nearby cigar store Maurita Gaggin sold Adelbert Godfrey's twenty-five centers to that great man-about-town, Eugene Alexander. Next door in one of the famous Borgarding, (Charles, of course,) Chain Stores, Berenice Wenzel and Miriam Geller were energetically shaking up the new mild drink named after that great aquatic star, Florence Comar, "The Comar Cuddle". Featured in the store window were dusting clothes made famous by their originator, Edith Goldblatt.

Then in the tiny flame came a scene of a huge ship tossing upon a turbulent sea. In the main dining hall the passengers lay huddled in groups. Vainly two waitresses, Marion Peterson and Martha Hanson, tried to cheer the frightened people. The steward and pantryman, Robert Haenisch and Clarence Weiss, rushed madly to and fro. Only the shrieks of Lucille Havenhill and the sobbing of Herta Walland could be heard above the roar of the surf. Above, on the decks, brave seamen felt their way to the upper cabins. But the flame died out, and whether the ship went down or not, we cannot say.

And then we saw huge machines at work and knew them to be presses of some great paper. Tending one of them was Stanly Hannibal. In another room, which we were shown, sat Adelle Heller and Virginia Cutler, busily reading proof. At a sub-editor's desk sat Howard Hitch.

THE RED & WHITE

and bending over Howard's desk, pencil in hand, was a cub-reporter, Frances Lehmpuhl. At the type-setting rooms nearby we found Isabel Hene and Vivian Kemnitz; and then suddenly the scene changed to a great international exposition.

At the entrance to the grounds a great woman detective stood disguised as a telephone pole, Eleanor Gause. The ticket man was Sidney Glickman, and Bob Hoffman was selling parking space at twenty-five cents a park.

In the flame we saw all the booths and in them were so many old friends. Wade Heritage was selling the "Grace Zeuch Washing Machine"; L e n n e a Huerlin fried hamburgers in a "hot-dog" stand; Francis Gavin, the strong-man, was giving a demonstration of his skill outside his tent; Adeline Weisgerber was selling balloons; Willard Gerbing, in the dancing pavillion, led his "red-hot" orchestra in the "Velma Whipple Blues", composed in honor of that great woman bugler; Isabelle Gerbe and Lillian Wietzke in uniforms were busy picking up waste paper throughout the grounds; Francis Gere smiled from ear to ear as he politely handed over a chocolate ice cream cone to Alice Goodenow. The ladies' band, conducted by Esther Boick, included Clara Erb at the drum; Laura Durben, drum; Ruth Anderson, oboe; and Barbara Jensen, cymbals. At the race-track nearby Charles Embleton and Harold Fanselow were driving machines that smoothed the track. The popular girl jockeys there were: Marie Feyder, Lucille Borg and Irene Johnson. Anna Bittenbinder's mare, Elizabeth, named for her dear friend, Miss Bingley, won the race we saw. A horseshoe of flowers was presented by the Mayoress, Doris Johnson.

The scene changed and we were at the World Court. Gene Zimmerman was pleading that she be allowed to introduce prohibition to the Phillipines. Margaret Blom argued strongly against the idea. In the gallery we found two old friends, Esther Joyce and Margaret Latsch. As we watched, a messenger rushed in, saying that George Helios had overthrown the dictator of Poland, Judson Kindt, and that George and Earle Fenske had the country in their hands. Immediately the chief justice, Per Strandberg, dispatched ambassador Dorothy Josephson to open peace negotiations.

The scene changed to polar regions. High in the sky Sylva Karasick piloted a dirigible designed by Florence Laurin. Below, skimming over the ice, was John Legan, bringing "Muriel Jensen's Body Builder" to the stricken colony founded by Katherine Licouris. In a ship plowing its way through the ice-filled waters, we saw Helen Johnson and Muriel Libby trying to spear a baby walrus in the water. As we watched, Ina Lindberg flew by in her plane, accompanied by her mechanic, Antoinette Oswald.

Again the scene changed and we were in the orient. A camel ambled into view and on it rode Walter Mathews eating peanuts. John Streit, dressed as a chief, was buying postcards in a Walgreen's drug store. A sedan chair came through the street and through a tiny window we caught a glimpse of Dorothy Miller all dressed up like a fairy princess. A band of desert nomads led by Grace Rahn suddenly dashed through the square, and before we could see what they were after the tiny flame presented us with a view of a street in Berlin. A sight-seeing bus drove by and at the wheel we saw Joseph Moore. Crying out the points of interest was La Donne Patier. In the bus was the well-known financier, Charles Schroeder, and that Wall-street leader, Ernest Schmidhofer. The bus whizzed out of sight and Margaret Pfeil and Loretta Peters chugged by in a little old-time Ford, both of them obviously tourists.

At an inn we saw Bennie Pecoraro and Roy Schmidt waiting on table. Seeing Grace Peterson and Peggy Selsor hurrying down the street, we followed them with our gaze and as they entered the museum found that the flame, too, would show us the interior. In the hall given by Lila Potter in memory of a pet canary, we found Dorothy Scudder diligently taking notes. At the information desk was Sylvia Anderson and the guard in the mummy-room was Donald Schwenneson.

And then we found ourselves in China and right before our eyes rode La Verne Pinocci and Catherine Schlau on their way to buy antiques for their firm, Susan Schumke and Company. An old mandarin went by, then he came back and the second time we recognized him as Milton Schwartz. Two students of Chinese lore wandered by and they were Helen Swiatek and Lyda Zimmerman.

The flame sputtered and then turned to Paraguay. There in a mine was Leo Zinderman, and Carl Tenggren was trying to get a pulley to work. The owner of the mine, Oleta Thal, stood watching the two men, and, disgusted by their clumsy efforts, fired them both. Further up the same mountain we saw a tiny cabin and therein was Selma Stern, living here for a short time trying to get atmosphere for her new novel.

The scene shifted to a nearby jungle and there sat Mae Anderson, trying to teach the natives geometry. The great botanyologist, Fern Stratton, was fumbling about in the leaves not far off, and their musician friend, Pauline Mae Wieting, who had come to study jazz in its original form, was in the village.

Then suddenly we saw a ballroom in the royal palace of Sweden. At the door stood two members of the king's guard, Orville Clark and Martin Duffy. Down one of the velvet-carpeted stairways came the wives of the foreign ambassadors. Two of them were Frances Blumenfeld and Florence Colliander. As maid-in-waiting to the queen Virginia Daress stood near the royal throne. There was an obvious excitement near the door and in a moment Adelaide Clyman swept in, a lady well-known for her charity work. Outside the palace Bernard Cohen as doorman assisted the lords and ladies from their cars, and as the scene faded he opened the door of a limousine that contained Evelyn Kealey and Ruth Moore, two famous women explorers.

We were awakened from our reverie by the sound of voices, and looking up, saw a well-known uniformed figure before us. "Well, doggone," he said, "how did these nuts get hold of matches? They've scorched the padding trying to build a fire!"

What Do You Eat?

Doctors and dentists are more and more convinced that the food we eat and our diet is of utmost importance to our health and the condition of our teeth

Good milk, butter, fresh vegetables, well cooked foods were stressed as of vital importance to give us the proper vitamins and food values for good teeth. Perfect assimilation and digestion are necessary

Young people should take special care to form a strong, firm foundation of health

With Miss Benson, who is a graduate of Home Economics, and an expert dietitian, in charge, we have foods that are selected and prepared scientifically
